

Chocolate and Roses

Words and Music by Sylvia F. Goldstein

I.

Chocolate and roses, what a nice surprise
Sentimental teardrops glisten in my eyes
Roses like rainbows, yellow, pink and red
I wonder who sent them... Tony, Tom or Ted!

II.

The chocolate is tempting, topped with almonds, too
I thank you most sincerely...Dennis, Dave or Drew!
For chocolate and roses are truly a delight
I welcome your affection... Danny, Dick or Dwight!

III.

Chocolate with fillings of fruit and luscious cream
Ronny, Ralph or Raymond, your gift is like a dream
I love the things you sent me; they really touch my heart
I'll keep them in my memory... Billy, Ben or Bart!

IV.

With chocolate and roses, a lucky girl am I
To have so many boyfriends like Henry, Hugh and Hy,
Gary, Greg and Guy, Sidney Sam and Sy,
and all the rest... Oh, my!

V.

This rainbow of roses, has such a lovely scent
It makes me feel romantic... Barry, Bob or Brent!
I ask myself the question, "Who could be my beau?"
Is it Max or Melvin, Manny, Mike or Moe?
Is it John or Jacob, Jerry, Josh or Joe?
Who is incognito? I simply have to know!

VI.

I pray I find the answer; this wondering drives me mad
Might it be sweet Charlie... Chester, Chuck or Chad!
Hmm... Now I do remember a loving lad, handsome and fine
The mystery is over; his name is Valentine.
